Supporting the Immediate and Long-term Health of our Community

As we move into 2021, we are still in the midst of the COVID-19 global pandemic. Lasting impacts will be in our community even long after the crisis is behind us. Our healthcare workers have been steadfast in the face of the pandemic, providing critical care and services to our community at a time when it is needed most. The Community Foundation of Frederick County is proud to support this vital work that is happening in our community by providing grants to support health and human services and scholarships to support future nurses, doctors, and other healthcare workers who will ensure that our community receives support well into the future.

THE COMMUNITY FOUNDATION of FREDERICK COUNTY

For Good. Forever. For Frederick County.

Early in the pandemic, the Community Foundation quickly recognized that our frontline healthcare workers needed support services to ensure that they could continue their critical work. Collaborating with Our Heavenly Cause Foundation, the Community Foundation provided a grant to Claggett Center, which, in partnership with Frederick County Government, used its event center and sleeping rooms to offer a non-congregate quarantine and isolation shelter for county first responders and healthcare workers. A grant was provided to YMCA of Frederick County to support childcare sites for children of first responders, healthcare workers, and essential employees. Mental Health Association of Frederick County received a grant for continuity of services related to its COVID-19 response.

Recognizing additional critical needs in our community, the Community Foundation distributed a grant to Frederick County Government/Montevue Assisted Living for the purchase of meal trays and carts to provide timely and safe in-room meals due to the COVID-19 suspension of communal dining. The Frederick Center received grant funding to support mental health needs of the LGBTQ+ community during the COVID-19 crisis. Heartly House received a grant to purchase a new phone system to provide more options for victims to contact the organization in secure, encrypted ways, and also allow staff much greater remote ability to assist victims during the pandemic.

Many immediate consequences from the COVID-19 pandemic impacted our community. Long-term challenges will exist after the pandemic ends. A demand for future healthcare workers to meet these challenges is inevitable. The Community Foundation is proud to provide scholarships to students who are studying nursing and health sciences.

For the 2020-2021 academic year, several Community Foundation funds awarded scholarships to students studying in these areas. The District 8, Maryland Nurses Association Scholarship Fund provides scholarships for registered nurses pursuing a Bachelor of Science or higher degree in nursing. The Martha Murphy Virts Nursing Scholarship Fund provides scholarships to support nursing students, and The Margaret E. Brust Nursing Scholarship Fund provides scholarships to Frederick County students majoring in nursing. The Frederick Medical Foundation Fund provides medical scholarships, and The Catocin Medical Center Scholarship Fund awards scholarships to Catocin High School graduates and others who live in the school's service area to study in the medical/health field. All of these funds awarded scholarships for the current academic year to support our future workforce.

The Community Foundation of Frederick County recognizes the importance of health and human services during the pandemic and long after it is over. Our community is resilient, collaborative, and will come out on the other end of this crisis stronger than before. We are proud to be a part of this effort, because #NothingStopsPhilanthropy.

The History of The Community Foundation of Frederick County

More than three decades after its inception, the first comprehensive history of The Community Foundation of Frederick County has been published. The book, titled For Good. Forever. For Frederick County, is a record of the people and events that helped give life to the organization. Thanks to thousands of benevolent citizens, the Community Foundation has returned more than $71 million to the community in grants and scholarships since 1986.

The book was the brainchild of Donald C. Linton, CPA, the man who introduced the idea of a community foundation in Frederick County. Through his generosity, the Community Foundation has preserved in writing the highlights of how one community's philanthropy has created profound impact on countless lives and causes for 34 years.

The book is available in electronic format and is located on our website at www.FrederickCountyGives.org/CFHistory.

Printed copies of the book are also available. Please contact the Community Foundation office by calling 301.695.7660 to request one. A voluntary contribution of $20 would be appreciated to help offset the printing cost. The book will be mailed to you.

Grant Sampler

This is a sampling of grants that were provided to local nonprofits during fiscal year 2020. In 2020, the Community Foundation remained committed to building a stronger, healthier, more vibrant community not only for today, but for the future, because #NothingStopsPhilanthropy.

1 Aging in place is important for Frederick County seniors. With the help of a grant from The Frederick Jaycees Fund, Habitat for Humanity of Frederick County was able to improve this local couple's home by installing handrails on their steps and repairs in their bathroom, including a grab bar and ADA compliant toilet.

2 The Religious Coalition for Emergency Human Needs helped this mother and her daughter find stable housing after they lost their home because of a family situation. They were able to live at the Emergency Family Shelter and receive other assistance to get back on their feet. Grants that supported the Religious Coalition programs were provided by The Patrick and Sharon Linton Family Fund, The Religious Coalition for Emergency Human Needs Fund, and unrestricted funds.

3 Crossed Bridges, an organization devoted to helping those with substance use disorder, partnered with Frederick County Health Department to promote "Frederick County Goes Purple." This grassroots call to action, which helped bring community awareness about the opioid crisis and substance use disorders, was supported with a grant from The Responding to Substance Use Disorder Strategic Initiatives Fund.

4 This young man, age 10, has autism and a rare metabolic condition that requires hospitalization several times each year. He loves fish, fishing, and anything with gills, and with a grant from The Monocacy Foundation Developmental Disabilities/Doris Remsberg Fund, he and his mom spent a few days at the Rod N Reel Resort on the Eastern Shore where he enjoyed all kinds of fishing adventures.

5 The Parents Lead Program at Frederick Community College helps women with children participate in a learning community designed to help them earn an associate degree. The Women's Giving Circle of Frederick County Fund provided a grant to assist with childcare. This woman was celebrating completion of 31 credits needed towards her degree.

6 Interfaith Housing Alliance (IHA) received a grant from The Supporting Families with Children Strategic Initiatives Fund to assist with technology upgrades that will allow its staff to better serve families in the community. Online rent payments through a new, more robust website reduced late fees and evictions, and online appointment scheduling for financial and housing counseling helped more people utilize those programs. IHA also received grant support from The PNC Homeownership Assistance Fund and The H. Deets and Juanita Warfield Donor-Advised Fund.

7 Warfighter Advance, a nonprofit dedicated to helping veterans with post-deployment life and PTSD (post-traumatic stress disorder), received a grant from The Sgt. David J. Smith Memorial Fund. Pictured is a group of Warfighter Advance alumni from Frederick County and surrounding counties who completed the Advance 7-Day program.

8 The Rotary Club of Carroll Creek commissioned and installed three kinetic art sculptures for the Carroll Creek Linear Park as another way to beautify Frederick County. This kinetic sculpture, "Tree of Life," was supported with a grant from The Adams Family Fund.

9 A grant from The Gregory Joseph Troy Memorial Fund provided funding for two "bite suits" used to train police dogs. The City of Frederick Police Department and the Frederick County Sheriff's Office worked with their K-9s using the suits which are custom-fitted to the officers performing the training.

10 The Maryland Room at C. Burr Artz Library houses an extensive collection of historical documents pertaining to Maryland and Frederick County. Grants from The Frances Delaplaine Randall Endowment Fund for Historic Research of Frederick County, The Janet L. Michael Fund, The Randall Family's Gift to the Maryland Room, and The Richard T. Leberz Endowment Fund helped to purchase preservation boxes to house Frederick Community College's oral history collection of interviews with Frederick's Civil Rights leaders. Staff also purchased a HEPA vacuum to safely eliminate dust from items as well.
